

Three years to help a child's brain grow.

From birth to age 3, kids develop the areas of the brain used for learning to read. When you talk or read with babies and toddlers, thousands of brain connections are created that help them later in school.

©2007

